

The diagram shows a large white rectangle centered on a light red background. This white rectangle is surrounded by a gray border. A red border is drawn around the entire gray-bordered area. On the left side, three horizontal arrows point from text labels to the gray border. The top arrow points to the outer edge of the gray border, the middle arrow points to the inner edge of the gray border, and the bottom arrow points to the boundary between the white area and the gray border.
